

Vestris Owners Deny They Delayed SOS Calls

Federal Attorney Tuttle Subpoenaes Radio Files of Merchant Ships, Including the Voltaire—May Investigate Along Other Lines—Calls Hearing For This Afternoon.

New York, Nov. 19 (AP).—Denial on behalf of the owners of the British steamship Vestris that they caused the captain to delay SOS calls focused attention today on radio messages obtained by Federal Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, who is conducting an inquiry into the disaster.

David Cook, vice president of Sanderson & Son, American agents for Lamport & Holt, issued this statement: "We had no message from Captain Carey until after we had asked him what was his trouble. The first we knew of any trouble on the Vestris was about 10:15 Monday morning (Nov. 12) when somebody at Station WOR called us up to ask if we had heard the SOS which the Vestris was sending out and which their station was picking up. I immediately rang up the Radio Marine Corporation and asked them for details which they gave me. I then instructed them to send a wireless to Captain Carey asking him what his trouble was and his reply was that the first communication we had from him, United States Attorney Tuttle is wasting his time trying to unearth some message between Captain Carey and me before the SOS was sent out."

Mr. Tuttle has subpoenaed the radio files of merchant ships, including the Voltaire, of the Lamport & Holt line, which was the nearest of its ships to the Vestris when she sank. He also has obtained many records of all radio messages concerning the Vestris.

Testimony of Radio Operator.

The SOS call was sent at 10 o'clock last Monday morning. Charles Vecheer, third radio operator of the Vestris, testified last week that a preliminary distress message, saying "we may need assistance," was sent to all ships about 8 or 9 o'clock Monday morning. A similar preliminary distress message, he said, might have been sent even before 8 p. m. Sunday, but later he testified he believed the one message was the only one of the sort sent.

John Boxill, a negro stoker of the Vestris, who was rescued by the battleship Wyoming, was quoted in dispatches from Norfolk, Va., as saying that the Vestris was unable to reach the Voltaire by radio and so reported to the line, which they notified Captain Carey that it would notify the Voltaire to go to his assistance.

Hearing This Afternoon.

Information obtained by Tuttle and the possibility that witnesses might leave his jurisdiction caused him to call a hearing for this afternoon. When the session ended Saturday an adjournment was taken till Tuesday.

Two nautical advisers representing the United States and Great Britain have been designated to assist at the hearings.

In addition to his effort to fix the guilt for the delay in sending the SOS, Mr. Tuttle today had in mind several other lines of inquiry. He intended to look into a report that vessels were within 25 miles and did not answer the distress signal.

Probe Manner of Stowing Cargo.

He also planned to inquire into the stowing of the cargo, which some accounts said shifted enough to emphasize the fatal list, and into the stories of firemen that a coal port, open when the Vestris sailed, let tons of water into the vessel.

The inquiry by the steamboat inspection service into the clean bill of health given the ship by their local inspectors also continues today.

The first officer and the chief engineer of the Vestris testified at the Tuttle inquiry Saturday that fire leaks were found after the ship put to sea.

Snow Intensifies Flood Suffering

Thousands Driven From Their Homes by Overflows in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma—Property Damage Runs Into Millions—Slimy Mud Cakes Under Wintry Winds.

Kansas City, Nov. 19 (AP).—Snow fell generally over the flooded areas of Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma today, intensifying the suffering and hardship of thousands of persons driven from their homes by overflows which followed an unprecedented November downpour.

With the known toll of dead and missing standing at a dozen, additional lives were endangered by possible outbreaks of disease expected to follow the severe climatic change which held the temperature in the lower thirties.

The property damage due to the flood runs into the millions, the principal loss being to crops, livestock and flooded homes and business buildings in widely scattered sections. Railroad companies suffered heavily through damaged roadbeds and bridges, which caused a two-day annulment of trains on many roads.

With the crest of the flood passing from central and northeastern Kansas uplands the danger was increased in southeastern Kansas, where much of the turbulent overflow will leave the state in a few large streams.

The biggest toll of life at a single point came at Ottawa, Kansas, Saturday night when swirling waters capsized a motorboat in which Dr. Ralph Shiras and Dr. J. Ward Smith had heroically carried out rescue operations. The other victims were a woman and her two small daughters, whom the physicians had removed from their flooded home in the Marais Des Cygne lowlands.

Relief Operations Organized.

Relief operations here were well organized yesterday as the swollen Blye river, which drove 300 families from their homes and caused big industrial property damage, returned to its banks. The victims were cared for in the city after having been warned not to return to their homes until sanitation measures had been effected.

A coat of slimy mud which lay along the seven-mile route of the river within the city limits was caking under wintry winds today.

Tales of heroic rescues from rooftops came from Clinton, Mo., caught in its worst flood in recent history. Paved arterial highways were under 12 to 14 feet of water along the Grand River there.

Snow Follows Flood.

Snow fell at Arkansas City where upwards of 100 homes are inundated and the homeless were being cared for in higher parts of the city. One hundred and fifty families are homeless at Augusta, Kansas, where $500,000 damage was caused within the city alone, most of which was flooded. The Walnut and White-water rivers there were receding. One man was missing.

Ottawa, Kansas, one of the hardest hit towns, remains without water or electric light service or fire protection today. Water shipped there in tank cars has partially relieved the suffering.

Paved highways between Kansas City and St. Louis have been reopened and rail service to Sedalia restored.

The floods followed 36 hours of nearly continuous rainfall which ranged in places up to 10 inches, the Texas Panhandle has felt the climatic disturbance. Six inches of snow fell there since Friday.

Motorists Can Get License Plates

The issuing of automobile license plates began this morning at the motor vehicle bureau office 237 Fair street and from now until January 1 the office will be kept busy if all of the motor vehicles in the county are to be licensed and ready for operation on January 1. By giving the public six weeks to secure plates there is no necessity of anyone being without plates after January 1.

New plates may be attached to cars five days prior to the first of the year.

Although six weeks are given in which to secure plates, there will be the usual last minute rush of those who neglect until the last few days to get plates. In past years on the last few days hundreds have waited in line for hours to get plates which could have been secured weeks before.

As usual salesrooms and garages throughout the county will keep a supply of application blanks for customers who desire to fill out and mail the applications direct to the office. The rate for computing fees remains the same as in past years.

Boards Special Train at Palo Alto for San Pedro, Where He Will Embark on Battleship Maryland—Trip Unlike That Ever Undertaken by President or President-elect.

Hoover Train en route to San Pedro, Cal., Nov. 19 (AP).—Bound on a good will mission for which there is no precedent in American history, President-elect Herbert Hoover moved today toward San Pedro to embark upon his voyage to South America.

Bidding farewell to the college town that has known him for more than thirty years since his undergraduate days, the president-elect of the United States boarded his special train at Palo Alto last night for a journey which is to carry him into most of the countries on the western hemisphere and across the breadth of the South American continent before bringing him back to Florida for a month before his inauguration on March 4.

Before him as he boarded the battleship Maryland for the voyage southward down the Pacific coast lay Corinto as the best port of call, where he is to pay the first visit that any president or president-elect of the United States have ever made to Nicaragua.

Afterward, although the definite itinerary for the entire trip has not yet been announced, he is to stop at Balboa for a brief inspection of the Panama Canal, and then comes the long voyage down the rim of South America to Callao, Peru. There he will begin a series of formal visits that will mark his progress across South America.

The departure of the president-elect from his home town brought hundreds of his neighbors and fellow townsmen to the little station to shout to him bon voyage.

His neighbors crowded about the train as it stood waiting for the final signal and received from him a characteristic wave of the hand when it moved out of the station into the darkness on the way down to the port of Los Angeles.

Earlier in the afternoon more than two hundred of his friends and neighbors had travelled up San Juan Hill to grasp the hand of their fellow Californian and wish him a pleasant and successful journey.

Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Italy, who is to be a special representative of the state department on the trip, preceded Mr. Hoover to Los Angeles. After a conference between the two the itinerary for the trip was to be made known.

Including Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, their son Allan, and Ambassador Fletcher, there were twelve members of the president-elect's personal party, exclusive of the twenty-six newspaper correspondents and news and motion picture cameramen who were to make the trip.

Denies Woman Lured Rothstein

New York, Nov. 19 (AP).—A high official of the New York detective bureau, who declined to allow the use of his name, today denied published reports that Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, was lured by a woman two weeks ago last night to the Park Central Hotel, where he was fatally shot.

The telephone call that brought Rothstein from a restaurant to the hotel came from George McManus, according to Rothstein's explanation to a waiter on leaving the eating place, this detective spokesman explained. The police want to question McManus, but have not found him.

The official also said that Mrs. Ruth Keyes, sought recently in Chicago as a woman reported to have been in the Park Central the night of the shooting, had left the hotel four hours before the shot was fired. She had stayed there four days. So far as the police knew, it was said, she had not been acquainted with Rothstein and she was not the blonde woman who visited the gambler at the hotel where he died.

Mayor Walker's ultimatum to the police to "produce something further" in the Rothstein murder mystery expires tonight. The mayor told the police last week that he would take action himself if there had been no important developments by today.

Three Slightly Hurt in Mixup

Two Automobiles and Port Ewen Bus in Collision on Port Ewen Side of Rondout Creek Bridge—Three Women Slightly Injured.

Sunday evening three women were slightly injured in a mixup between the cars of Ambrose Larson of Chicago, Clifford Winchell of Port Ewen and one of the Port Ewen busses on the Port Ewen side of the Rondout Creek Bridge.

From the story as brought out before Judge Henry E. McKenzle at his office in Port Ewen later in the evening it was learned that Larson, who is an organizer at the Wrigley broadcasting station in Chicago, was on his way to New York City. After crossing Rondout Creek Bridge he became somewhat confused when he came to the road that turns off from the main highway to go to Connelly and stopped his car suddenly.

As he did so Clifford Winchell, who was driving a car directly behind, was also forced to bring his car to a sudden stop and the Port Ewen bus, which was also in the rear, shoved the Winchell car into the Larson car. Neither Winchell nor the driver of the bus received a warning signal from Larson that he was going to stop so suddenly, which caused the mixup.

Mrs. Winchell, who was riding in her husband's car, suffered from shock and Miss Beatrice Fulton and Gladys Hogan, both of Port Ewen, who were in the bus, were slightly hurt. Miss Fulton was bruised on the hand and Miss Hogan was bruised about the arm and back. Dr. George W. Ross attended all three women.

Larson after the mixup drove on, and police headquarters was notified and given the number of his car, which bore an Illinois license plate. Word was immediately telephoned ahead by the police and the car was stopped at Newburgh and Larson and John T. Mooney, who said he was a Chicago newspaper man, were brought back to Port Ewen.

No charge was pressed against Larson and he agreed to return later in the week and settle for the damage to Winchell's automobile.

Progress always involves some losses and, while the new kind of sleeping car with regular little rooms with four solid walls and doors and everything undoubtedly is a great improvement over the old style, we have always enjoyed seeing certain people get into their uppers.

Kingston Man Tells of Amazing Work of New Medicine

Relates How it Relieved Stubborn Case of Gas in Stomach and Nervousness—Now Sleeps Better; Has Better Appetite.

Scores of local men and women are daily turning to Dr. French's Nu-Erb, the great herbal medicine. Erb I decided to give it a trial and I which is being introduced in Kingston by the Nu-Erb specialist at McBride's Drug Store, 312 Wall street. Many have already reported surprising results from various forms of stomach, kidney, liver and bowel disorders. Mr. Freeman Van Valkenburg, 61 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y., who is employed locally by Newcombe Oil Co., says:

"I suffered from a very stubborn case of indigestion and gastritis. Food would not digest, but fermented and formed a distressing gas soon after reaching my stomach. About one hour after meals I would bloat terribly and get so nervous that I was irritable and couldn't stand the least noise around me. Because of this nervous condition I couldn't sleep at night and my entire system became weakened."

"I spent lots of money on medicines and treatments, but got no relief. In fact I kept growing worse all the time and frankly I was about discouraged, as nothing seemed to help me any. When I heard of Nu-Erb, the great herbal medicine, I decided to give it a trial and I want to state that this medicine has done more for me than anything yet. My food digests now without forming that awful gas or causing any other distress in my stomach. I have regained my appetite and eat things that I wouldn't dare touch before. I sleep fine at night. My nerves are steadier and I am sure pleased with the way this medicine has helped me and gladly tell others about it."

Being made from the pure liquid extracts of twelve herbal plants, Nu-Erb acts on the human system in a perfectly natural way. It is perfectly harmless, pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt. It contains no harmful or habit forming drugs.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall street, is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

Auto Damage Suit In County Court

County court convened this morning at 10 o'clock at the court house. There was an criminal case in the taken up for trial and a jury was taken in a civil case, Henry Tennenbaum against Isadore Miller. When the jury box was filled all other cases were adjourned until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

Tennenbaum, who resides on the Hodge Street road, claims damages to his Overland car which was in collision with Miller's Reo truck on February 18, 1925. The action is an appeal from Justice's court. Tennenbaum seeks to recover $189.90 and Miller brings a counter claim for $156.50. On the day in question Tennenbaum was returning home from Ellenville where he had met his daughter at school. Near the Hodge place Tennenbaum claims he saw the Miller car approach. His car was in a rut. He could not turn out so he stopped his car and blew his horn. Miller came on and struck the Overland. Tennenbaum claims his car was to the right of the road and Miller was driving too fast.

He also alleges that he had chains on but that Miller did not. Miller's car was in the same ruts when he first observed it but at the time the cars came together Miller had turned his car out and only the left wheels were in the rut. Tennenbaum's car was still in both ruts.

Miller claims his car was equipped with chains but that Tennenbaum's car was not equipped with chains. He alleges negligence on the part of Tennenbaum. Vernon Kelder appears for Miller and Frank W. Brooks for plaintiff.

On Rearing Children
from CRIB TO COLLEGE
Compiled by the Editors of "CHILDREN,"
The Magazine for PARENTS

It is never too late to learn—and it is never too late to unlearn.

A small flashlight given to one small boy really cured him of his fear of the dark. He feels very proud to snap on the light and go boldly into a dark room.

Parenthood is a dual job. Working out the problems of infancy and early childhood in complete partnership will give father and mother insight and understanding later, when united forces are more too strong to meet some of the turbulent forces of adolescence. If father feels that the children are "mother's job" during the early years, the priceless years of experience which should have been his will be irretrievably lost. The mother's touch that familiarity with the growing problems of his developing might have given him may be gone forever.

The child's self-confidence will depend upon the confidence adults place in him.

A child may be nervous, fidgety, or extremely quiet because his clothes do not fit properly. Garments which are too large and feel as though they are dropping off are a nervous strain. Those which are too small are uncomfortable and physically harmful.

A child is always giving attention to something. He simply cannot cease from attending to a thing because you tell him to do so. It is of little use to say, "Don't touch that," unless at the same time you provide him with an alluring diversion in the shape of, "Here, see the nice toy mother has for you. Look, you can do this and this with it. See if you can do it, too."

Restraint and repression imposed by adults do not teach self-control and consideration for others. It is by learning to make decisions for themselves that children develop judgment and self-reliance.

The need of serving one quart of milk a day for each child and at least half that amount for each parent may be partially met by serving cream cups, scalloped dishes, milk puddings and sauces.

Parents must take up the work of child-rearing at the point which nature reached when the babies came into their hands. And they have to try to continue the work as well as it was begun.

All Fashionable Colors

Prove to Be Interesting

Almost to a greater extent than in design does the mode in colors change from year to year. This year fashion has brought us the colors that we love best, reports a fashion expert in Successful Farming Magazine.

"We have," she finds, "a warm, deep red, called by some 'guava red.' Then we have a rich loam brown and a 'roxy' tan, which is a warm tan. We have bronze gold and bronze shadow, a deep dark red, and copper and sugar cane, all in the red family. Then there are pewter pot and mauve gray, blue green and olive-bronze green, and a new clear blue a little lighter than navy, called 'Davy Jones.'

"Green and gray are subtly used. Black is always considered smart when wisely made. If one can afford several different frocks, she might have a brown dress and a tan one, and then have a green for variety; but if one can have only one very lovely outfit, it is safer to choose it of brown, or red, or blue, according to the individual color."

Progress Made on Wawarsing Road

Considerable work has been done on the new concrete highway in the town of Wawarsing, the contract for which was but recently let. Many of the culverts have been put in and several of the curves have been eliminated and new fills put in. These fills will be allowed to settle during the winter and early in the spring the work will be rushed to completion. One of the bad turns which will be eliminated is that at the village of Kerhonkson where the road will be straightened from the Indian Valley Inn through the lowlands over a fill. Several turns near Wawarsing are also being eliminated.

ALL-AMERICAN UNITY.

Americans when thinking of foreign countries have always thought mostly of Europe, which is natural, because nearly all of us originate there. But that is looking into the past. To America, our people have always felt, belongs the future. But we have only recently begun to realize that there are two Americas, North and South, English and Latin.

Our speakers and writers have insisted more and more strongly in these latter years that since the destiny of the United States lies in the western hemisphere, its leading principle of foreign policy should be the establishment of closer ties with the Latin-American republics. This reasoning has been strengthened by the rise of a League of Nations dominantly European. If our country is not to enter that League, it is natural to make ourselves solid, or "establish solidarity" as a diplomat would say, with the other Americas.

PROSPERITY.

Secretary Mellon reports that our national income has now passed $90,000,000,000 a year and is rapidly moving toward $100,000,000,000. Our per capita income is more than $705 a year, which should mean something more than $3,000 per family. "Leaving out of account wars and other great calamities," he adds, "I can see no reason why the present upward trend in this country should not continue indefinitely."

This implies a continuance of the thrift which, as income increases, saves an increasing amount, putting it into a bank account or real estate or insurance or sound securities. It implies also increasing expenditure. Extreme saving would destroy prosperity as surely as extreme spending. Wise thrift is thrift which realizes the value of keeping money in circulation, like red blood in the body, maintaining the health and growth of the whole economic system. So vital is this liberal exchange of money and goods that some of the modern economists would say spending is even more important than saving, because what is spent wisely comes back to the spender in the form of greater opportunities for work and profit.

"A Pilgrimage to Mecca!" rhapsodizes an American tourist. "Long cavalcades of richly dressed travelers wending their way to the exalted mother of cities, the most central and holy city of all Islam. Fat merchants on rocking camels. Arabs with billowing burnouses astride fiery mares, dark-skinned sheiks proudly aloft, silks gleaming and jewels flashing." This is what the picture ought to be, according to precedent and tradition. But today the prosaic truth is far different. Caravans have given place to "motor-cades." Mohammedan pilgrims now travel on wheels like the rest of us. The desert roads are filled with low-priced American automobiles and trucks. The pilgrimage of the faithful becomes a silver parade. At every oasis in the desert is a filling station. Only the hot dog stands are missing. Alas for romance! Even the colorful Orient yields to American efficiency.

There is a royal ruler left in Europe who is called by his subjects "The Good." He is Prince John of Liechtenstein, who has recently completed the 70th year of his reign over 11,666 subjects. The Prince himself is 38 years old. His little principality is 250 years older than the United States. It lies between Austria and Switzerland, and appears to have survived the stresses of war happily enough. Prince John is the only monarch today ruling over a country populated by German stock. Rulers of other and larger nations, debilitated by war on his long and kindly reign, and his own royal "household" which is what he calls his subjects, meet many affectionate greetings. John The Good may go on reigning until he is 100 years old, if he lives so long, and no democracy will begrudge him his little monarchy or the love and good will he has won from his people and their neighbors.

We shall soon have clearer money, stiffer money and more convenient money. The government is printing a new issue of bank notes amounting to $1,000,000,000. Most of the units are dollar bills, and the present defects of this denomination are responsible for the change. It has been found that the principal use for dollar bills is to buy gasoline. They go to filling stations often rather than anywhere else. In doing so they get oily and dirty and wear out rapidly. They are also uncomfortable to handle because of their size. So they are being made smaller, tougher and nearly out-proof. Now if the service man at the station will wash his hands, wearing gloves for his dirty work and taking them off when he handles money, the improvement will amount to something.

The Paris press comments comically on the seizure at New York of the half bottle of champagne with which Lady Heath had hoped to christen her airplane. Naturally French observers are puzzled to know what harm could be done by another half bottle of what wealthy Americans so continuously imbibe at their feasts.

AID IN HEART AILMENTS.

One of the points folks do not grasp or remember is that many of the ailments from which they suffer affect the heart, and actual heart disease may result after the other ailment has completely cleared up.

For many years now it has been known that rheumatism is the cause of the majority of cases of heart disease. Accordingly it has been the custom to carefully guard the heart during rheumatic attacks. Just as long as there is any pain or swelling in affected joints the patient is kept at absolute rest.

As you know the lining tissue of the heart becomes inflamed and the little valves that close the openings of the heart get inflamed also. Fibrous or hard scar tissue results as the inflammation departs, and this valve that should exactly fit the opening, has puckered edges which allow the blood to flow or leak back.

And so it has been thought that if when you recovered from rheumatism or other illness and there was no leakage of the heart, that the heart was just as good as ever.

However our hospitals now have what is called an electrocardiograph, a machine that records the actual nerve and muscle condition of the heart. This instrument has been able to show that even when the rheumatism has passed, all signs of joint involvement gone, and the heart is normal as far as the physician can detect it with his stethoscope, that there may still be some heart ailment.

Also, at the beginning of the attacks of rheumatism and the physician is watching the heart carefully, that this machine or instrument will record trouble that he cannot detect.

"And so these electrocardiograms confirm the opinion which is now widely held that the heart is involved in all cases of rheumatic fever, even if there are no signs by which the physician can detect it." Now while this machine is of value in enabling the physician to guard the heart, nevertheless as the main cause of rheumatism is from infected teeth and tonsils, your first thought should be the prevention of rheumatism by having an X-ray of your teeth taken regularly, and the tonsils, if you have any, examined by your physician.

There are leaders—and there are trailers

In every gathering you can pick them out—the people whose clothes are always in style, who drive smart cars, furnish their homes with taste, entertain artistically. They are the leaders. They don't seem to spend any more money than their neighbors and yet they undoubtedly set the pace.

And at the other end of the line you can pick the trailers. They are the people who are always a little out of step. They are the last to hear that styles have changed—the last to learn of new housekeeping methods or improvements in automobiles. They think "Remember" is the latest song hit, and are planning to get "Main Street" out of the library.

What is it that makes the difference between front-rank and rear-rank families? Temperament partly, of course. But the real answer is that one group chooses to keep posted while the other is willing to remain in ignorance.

It is just as certain that the leaders in any social set read the advertising columns and take advantage of their suggestions as it is that the tail-enders do not.

The advertisements tell you how to get the most out of life.

DIRECT CONTRAST REVOLUTION.
IZES POPULAR EN-SEMBLE IDEA.

New York.—The unexpected, always a big factor in life has become a big factor in fashion. It has revolutionized the ensemble. After being trained to the gowns and coats which are akin in color, we are now being trained to those which are in direct contrast. One is never sure what may be revealed—a bright dress beneath a black coat or a dress which is the same material as the coat but of a sheerer fabric. The ensemble may also involve fur, to the extent of placing it on the coat and on the dress also. This is perhaps more true of evening dresses. The fur bordered evening dress usually, though not always of velvet, has met with success. Egan shell velvet with blue fox is a combination of repute.

The practice of using animal scarfs as a trimming is no longer a novelty but that it has become a dominate trimming note is important. Many of the new standing collars have a slight point at the center of the back due to the introduction of a head, and this may be complemented by the addition of the brush. The uneven border often of fox is the order of the moment. It is often placed a few inches above the hem and to carry out the unexpected fur is applied at or near the elbow rather than at the cuff.

Whether or not one makes use of the head as a center for the collar, the majority of smart collars are pointed between the shoulders. (Copyright, 1928, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Schoolgirl of China

Coached in Manners

In the native schools of China the Chinese girl gets very little book-learning. She enters the school late—at about the age of ten or eleven—receives instruction in morals and manners and marries as soon as her brief educational course is finished. The proverbial Chinese politeness is taught in the schools as well as in the home. In the classroom the little girls learn how to greet friends and acquaintances, how to receive visitors with all old-time Chinese formality; how to offer tea, how to present an umbrella to an aged lady, how to share an umbrella with a companion—a thousand and one acts of courtesy each distinguished by its own proper ceremony. In families which have become somewhat modernized the young Chinese daughters by way of a final polishing in their last year at school learn civics and receive a sort of patriotic instruction.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Here comes a beautiful and modern woman to see Dame Fashion. Her brown velvet gown, with pretty dipping side folds, is of the precise shade that lights her beauty. Her fox scarf is hanging over her arm, along with her hand-tooled, attractive bag. Her pumps and hose are a rich beautiful brown, while

Grace J. Austin, her hat is one of the gay metallic tones that began their sway this year earlier than ever known in the history of millinery. Seeing the art of the ensemble, and knowing her friend had been abroad, Dame Fashion demanded to know how much of the outfit came from Paris.

"Not a thread of it was purchased there," was the declaration given with patriotic fervor. "We returned before the openings, and in any case, I like to buy in the shops which I know, and where they know me."

There is, of course, a certain amount of nationality in goods, and it is rather fun to test yourself to see what luck you have or what skill you own in tracing out, just from your own observation, and not from labels, which nation made the thing.

Dame Fashion gets some of her best thrills of national pride when she picks up some wonderful material and says, "I feel sure this is imported," and then finds out it is made right here in the United States of America. But those thrills are more apt to come when wearables are under discussion than when it is an art object such as those that abound in the gift shops.

The other day Dame Fashion was looking at a row of useable-sized pitchers. Americans like pitchers, for it is safe to say that this country has more of the cream of life than any other equal number of individuals on the globe. And these comfortable pitchers would furnish cream for a whole big Roosevelt-ideal sized family to put in their morning coffee.

Americans like fish, too. No sooner does a man get to be President of these United States than we learn all about his joy in fishing. But if every fisherman became President there wouldn't be any candidates left for Vice President.

Yet would any American china manufacturer think of making a cream pitcher, and then of making a nice, red fish, bending it around and biching it by head and tail, to make a handle out of it for the cream pitcher? Never, never, never. So when Dame Fashion saw the red-fish handled pitchers she said with rising indignation "Japan!" and was quite pleased when it proved to be true.

Still she felt a sensation of mingled pride and pang to hear lately through a solemn trade report that the Japanese are suffering in their manufacture of kimono and negligees, because the American manufacturers can fill the market with satisfactory wares of this kind and even undersell the Japanese! There are still, however, some wonderful garments with birds in golden silk, and white embroidered cherry blossoms that surely cannot be equaled in America. Also when you gaze with envy at the opera at a rich mandarin coat, you may be sure it has crossed the salty Pacific. (Copyright, 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

New Low Forest Fire Record

Previous Low Record of 1933 Cut 25 Per Cent—Great Fire Wrote Worst—Only Nine Acres of State Owned Land in Adirondacks and Catskills Burned.

Albany, Nov. 19.—In his forthcoming report to the legislature Conservation Commissioner Alexander Macdonald will report a new low record of forest fire damage in the State's forest preserve.

The outstanding accomplishments of the state's forest fire protective forces for the year ending November 15 which marks the end of the forest fire season, are:

1. The lowest burned area within the Adirondack and Catskill forests ever recorded, being less than 1,300 acres, representing 1.59 of 1 per cent of the total area of 7,376,600 acres included in the Adirondack forests.

2. A record of no fires burning in the mountainous areas of Washington county.

3. No expenses incurred in connection with extinguishing forest fires in Greene county, all services being free.

4. The burning of only nine acres of state owned land within the Adirondack and Catskill areas of the state, where the state holds title to over 2,000,000 acres much of which is valuable timber land.

Records show 830 forest fires have been extinguished by employees of the Conservation Department during the past season. These fires were scattered over an area of 16,500,000 acres of which the Conservation Department has responsibility for forest fire control activities. These fires burned a total of over 38,751 acres and resulted in a damage of $3,725 to standing timber and other forest products and $35,000 damages to buildings which were consumed in the flames.

No Month Free From Fires.

A peculiar distribution of weather conditions influencing the seriousness of forest fires has existed throughout the timbered areas of New York state during the past year. There has been no month free from fires, 15 having occurred in January, and 7 in February, months which usually are free from any danger of fire. The largest number of fires occurred during the month of May when 290 were reported. The smallest number occurred during the month of September with a total of 8. While the southeastern part of the state was experiencing an early spring, the higher elevations of the Adirondacks and Catskills were well protected with a heavy blanket of snow until the middle of April. The protection thus afforded together with the use of modern equipment and efficient organization of the 127 employees of the department within the Adirondack and Catskill area, resulted in the burned area being 25 per cent less than the previous low record attained in 1933.

In the southern part of the state where conditions favorable to the spreading of fires were of long duration, and where chief reliance for fighting fires must be placed on a volunteer corps of firewardens, less satisfactory records generally were attained. Nine fires exceeding 1,000 acres in extent were reported during the season, the largest of which was 2,400 acres burning on April 18, in Suffolk county. Orange county suffered from four of these fires, Rockland county, 2, Suffolk county, 2, and Sullivan county 1.

Uster Had Biggest Fire.

The largest fire burning within the Adirondack and Catskill area where the Conservation Department has for years carried on a vigorous campaign against forest fires was of 160 acres burning in Uster county. The largest fire occurring in the Adirondacks was of 70 acres caused by a Clinton county smoker.

The Conservation Department cannot hope to approach within the areas outside the Adirondacks and Catskills, for many years, the remarkable record of fire suppression which they have attained within these mountainous areas. The comparatively small contiguous wooded areas lying outside the Adirondack and Catskill areas are surrounded by extensive open grass land, upon which most of the fires originate, spreading thence into the forests. Under such conditions, the greatest damage results from destruction to buildings and fences, the fires otherwise doing but little damage, as grass is the chief source of fuel. The result is a large number of fires occurring within a short period of time and burning rapidly over large areas. The very nature of these fires makes them most difficult to control, as they will frequently travel faster than a man can walk.

Don't Be Fooled! Constipation Is Hard to Detect

Regular Elimination Alone Is Not Enough

Forty or more different ailments, many dangerous and some serious enough to cause permanent ill health, may be brought on by chronic constipation.

You may suffer from constipation for years and not find it out until serious trouble has developed. Even if your bowel actions are regular, they may be entirely inefficient.

Get your eyes for a yellow, aged, or your tongue is coated, if you move a heavy stone in your mouth, or if you suffer from liver trouble, or if you suffer from indigestion or sick-headache, you'd better do something about it.

Start right in with Doan's Kidney Pills. Entirely vegetable, harmless, not habit-forming, pleasant to take. They correct these conditions, simply, effectively, and with no unpleasant after-effects. Do on the safe side and ask for Doan's Kidney Pills. 50¢ at all druggists. Satisfaction guaranteed.

News From the World on Wheels

Louis Partsch, test car driver for the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company, during the past 12 years has driven more than a million miles without an accident. During his test car career Partsch has worn out 12 automobiles and has driven on every kind of road imaginable. In this million-mile marathon, Partsch has ranged from the smallest lower priced cars to the largest, speediest and most expensive cars. He has driven light and heavy trucks. Recently Partsch drove his test car 530 miles during his twelve-hour shift. In two shifts he drove 1065 miles and he averaged about 500 miles a day five days of the week. His record is considered unusual by Goodrich tire engineers, in that he has never had an accident serious enough to injure his car.

Price reductions of $150 to $250 recently announced on all Victory Six and Standard Six models have resulted in unusually heavy demands for cars from Dodge Bros. dealers everywhere. Shipments have been speeded up to take care of orders pouring in to the factory, and indications are that November shipments will be one of the heaviest fall months in the history of the company.

THIS WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock there will be a meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society in the parish house.

The Country Women's Club of the M. E. Church met at the home of Mrs. Lawrence DeVoe for the first social meeting of the season Thursday, November 15. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent, making preparations for a Christmas sale. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

The ladies of the M. E. Church will serve the monthly dinner at the church hall Thursday, November 22, at 12 o'clock. Mrs. Mary Coddington, Mrs. Russell Lawrence, Mrs. Phoebe Lawrence and Mrs. Lewis Miller have charge of the dinner. Menu: Escaloped salmon, mashed potatoes, baked beans, cabbage salad, jelly, pickles, rice pudding and coffee. All the ladies are invited to help. There will be a business meeting at 3 o'clock. Labor Head Asks Nation's Workers to Support Red Cross

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in Washington, calls upon the workers of the nation to support the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, November 11-23, in the following statement:

"Through the American Red Cross we find expression for some of our noblest ideals. It is an effective instrument for magnifying many times our personal service to humanity.

"In the face of great disasters, when the injured and homeless run into the thousands, there is little we can do individually. Consolidating our strength through membership in this great organization, our opportunity for service is unlimited.

We must not forget that every day is a day of disaster to thousands. Into homes where disaster strikes your Red Cross goes in your name to be friend and counselor to those upon whom misfortune has laid her heavy hand.

"As President of the American Federation of Labor, I hope and feel confident that the workers of the nation will respond to the Red Cross Roll Call and have a part in this organization's great work."

(Signed)
WILLIAM GREEN,
President

Lovers of Stevenson

Visit His Birthplace

Lovers of Robert Louis Stevenson may like to be reminded of the house No. 8, Howard place, Edinburgh, where R. L. S. was born. It was opened to visitors on June 9, 1926, by the Robert Louis Stevenson club as the result of a bazaar which the members organized, and since that time 3,000 visitors from all parts of the world have inspected the Stevenson. These at present include many pictures—including some that illustrate his life in the South seas, and a collection of letters, manuscripts and personal belongings. There is the inland linen press given by Stevenson to Henley which was purchased by Lord Gairdner when Mrs. Henley sold her household goods after the death of her husband. The linen press has a story. It was made by Deacon Brodie who, because of his double-faced characteristics, suggested to Stevenson his famous characters of "Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception was good Sunday, all day and evening. The buzzer buzzed occasionally but was not so bad as it has been.

This morning reception was very strong. It is an orchid rug this week.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Nov. 15 (AP).—There were more sellers than buyers in the stock market today with the result that the general price tendency was downward. Trading failed to maintain the terrific pace set in the series of record-breaking sessions last week but, due to the accumulation of small orders, the market again fell hopelessly behind the market, being 50 minutes late at 1:15 p. m. The decline, which ran from 1 to 4 points in most of the active issues and 5 to nearly 10 points in some of the high-priced specialties, was by no means general. But pools were again active in a select assortment of copper, eastern rail, merchandising, oil and chemical issues, a score of which were pushed to new high records.

Heavy selling was presumably inspired by week-end commission house advices which suggested that taking of profits in issues which had been prominent in the recent upswing. There was nothing in the day's news itself to influence the liquidation of stocks.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

TRUST YOURSELF

ANY person who expects to win an important position in the world must learn to trust himself. And to trust himself he must believe in himself.

It may be hard for you to rely on your own judgment when others tell you that your judgment is wrong. But if you believe that your judgment is right you should act upon it.

Any unusual proposal on your part, for instance, will meet with the unreasoning opposition of those about you. Many will oppose it merely because they did not think of it themselves or because they have not the nerve or energy to carry it out.

I remember once that when I was dissatisfied with the wages I was getting I decided to ask for a twenty-five dollar a week raise, counting on actual getting fifteen. Unless I got fifteen, I told my friends, I was going to look for another job.

Immediately I was beset by a storm of pessimistic advice. The field was limited, they said, and I might be unable to get another job. Better stick to what I had and say nothing. Anyway, twenty-five dollars a week was an unheard-of demand. The boss would probably throw me out of the office.

These croakers did not know the situation nearly as well as I did, of course. I knew my own abilities and I had a pretty good idea of what the boss thought of them. I also knew that I was fed up on being underpaid and that I would about as soon quit as not.

But did the fact that they were not qualified to give me good advice deter any of these calamity howlers? Not at all. Not one of them hesitated to give me the benefit of his ignorance and inexperience.

The affair turned out as such affairs usually do. My judgment proved better than theirs.

It may seem difficult to rely on your own ability and judgment when everybody around you opposes it. But confidence is born of experience.

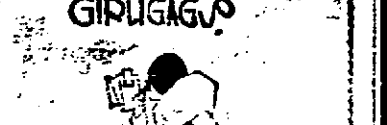

When you have learned your trade thoroughly there is no reason in the world why you should be afraid to stand on your own feet.

Nobody can know as much about yourself as you do. And nobody else is as well qualified to make your decisions as you are.

Every successful man is self-reliant in his own calling. He does not depend on the advice of others.

You must trust yourself if you expect to succeed.

Curtis Field, N. Y.—Captain Joseph Medill Patterson, publisher, has the largest amphibian plane ever built. It is a nine-passenger Sikorsky with a luxurious cabin and is capable of a speed of 140 miles an hour. Captain Patterson and his daughter, Mrs. Alice Patterson Simpson, are learning to be pilots. The captain already has made solo flights.

Chicago—Pilots seeking the municipal airport will be guided soon by a 415-foot "lighthouse" with a 1,000 watt red light surmounting a 70-foot tower. The "lighthouse" is a gas tank. On its roof, in letters 30 feet high, will be painted directions to the airport.

Washington—The First Lady of the Land on Wednesday will christen the first of the planes which early in the new year will inaugurate a daily passenger schedule between Miami and the West Indies.

New York—Giant Savoia Marchetti seaplanes, with which Italy has annexed several world's records, are to be built in the United States. A branch factory will be in New York.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—A device for turning on flood lights at an airport by means of a siren on an arriving plane has been demonstrated successfully. An "electric ear" picks up the sound waves and transmits them to an apparatus which turns on the lights.

Philadelphia—Lady Heath believes women can do anything in aviation that men can do. The British aviatrix says aviation is a national necessity, but no movement can be truly national unless women participate.

Boston—George A. Parker, state registrar of motor vehicles, comments people who are shocked beyond words by the loss of life in a disaster like that of the Vostok regard with complacent indifference the killing of hundreds a year by automobiles.

Harper's Ferry, W. Va.—Having dropped from a bridge 50 feet into the Potomac in an automobile, four persons were only slightly hurt. They were Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood, famous surgeon, his wife, a woman guest and the chauffeur. The car hit the water wheels first.

New York—Florenz Ziegfeld has given $1,000 as a wedding present to Elsie B. Stephens, who has promised to continue dancing although Mrs. Leroy L. Frank.

London—Archie Compston, British golf star, is amazed by the number of non-drinkers and non-smokers he found American golfers.

New York—Doris Keane, who has played most of the time for more than a decade in one revival after another of "Romance," is returning from the latest revival in England to play it here.

Przemysl, Poland.—A house here survived bombardments during the great World War and stood till it was more than 200 years old. Then it collapsed while most of the tenants were at church.

Home Service Class Demonstrations. "Holiday Specialties" will be the subject of the home service lesson to be demonstrated by Miss Elizabeth Plank of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation at the home service auditorium 5 Field Court, Tuesday evening at 7:30 and Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. This lesson will contain many appetizing dishes suitable for Thanksgiving among them being au gratin squash, squares, pumpkin and coconut tart, fruit cake, Yuletide kisses, pulled minis, frozen cranberries and celery.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—State Department of Agriculture and Markets—Onion trading was very limited on the New York city wholesale sections this morning, doubtless due to the unfavorable weather. The tone of the market was sluggish but price changes were few and small.

Receipts were moderate. Sales on yellow onions from western New York were consummated at $3 @ $3.75 per 100-pound sack. Offerings from western and middle western states, superior in quality and of large size, commanded as high as $4.75.

Supplies of celery were moderate. The market was without decided change. The demand was confined to fancy, well blanched stock. Western New York shipments in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates, peddled at $2 @ $2.50 on the good to fancy $2.25 @ $2.75 on the ordinary and $1 @ $2 on poor. Pacific coast celery, in large crates, realized from $4.25 @ $7.

Arrivals of upstate New York apples were moderate. Trading was fair on fancy fruit of most kinds and the market ruled steady. Rhode Island greenings wholesaled at $1.75 @ $2 per basket for U. S. grade No. 1, 2 1/2 inch fruit; McIntoshes brought $3.25 @ $3.50 and various other varieties $1.25 @ $1.50.

Western New York Concord grapes were in limited receipt. A large percentage of the sales were reported at 50 cents per 12 quart basket.

Receipts of pears from all sections of the state were light. Fancy fruit met a moderate outlet but ordinary New York Kieffer pears jobbed out at $1.37 @ $1.50 a bushel basket. Sechels realized $1.50 @ $2.25, while various other kinds sold at $1.25 @ $2.

Despite the slow trading the market for upstate New York white Danish cabbage held steady with values hardening. Bulk stock at terminals in New York city and Brooklyn wholesaled at $22 @ $25 per ton. In few instances sales on some fancy were reported slightly higher.

Potato buying was limited in a rather dull market. Nevertheless price changes were unimportant. Most of the western New York round white potatoes in bulk sold at $2 per 150 pounds.

Gentleman's Qualities

"A gentleman is easy to serve and hard to please," said Confucius. Conversely the "ruler are hard to serve and easy to please" while "Nought but right pleases the gentleman," he contended. Confucius said that the gentleman has nine aims in life. They are:

"First, to see clearly.

"Second, to understand what he hears.

"Third, to be warm in manner.

"Fourth, to be dignified in bearing.

"Fifth, to be faithful of speech.

"Sixth, to be painstaking at work.

"Seventh, to ask when in doubt.

"Eighth, to think of difficulties when in anger.

"Ninth, to remember right when in sight of gain."—Detroit News.

A Mighty Mite

Red spiders, which actually are not spiders at all, but mites—are a serious pest in certain cotton fields of the South, and the Department of Agriculture points out in a recent bulletin, probably damage the cotton crop in excess of $2,000,000 in years of severe infestation. The insects are minute and live on the under sides of the leaves, feeding from the juices in the leaf tissues, rather than on the surface. They multiply rapidly, and in warm weather a new generation appears in about 12 days. As many as 17 generations a year have been observed.

King Won Saturday's Shoot

At the shoot held Saturday, November 17, Harold King was winner of the gold button. Robert Martin shot a perfect string of 25 birds but in the shoot-off with Messrs. King, Kelder and Preston, he failed out and the button went to Harold King. King had a handicap of nine birds. It was an exceptionally fine day for the event and should the weather be as nice on Thanksgiving Day it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

Yellow Jackets Defeat West Point Service Team

All-Local Eleven Scores Two Touchdowns and Blanks Heavy Soldier Squad Here Sunday—Scores Made In First Period of Game—Large Crowd Sees Hardest Battle of Year—Cirone Injured.

The sturdy West Point Service Club that came to Kingston with a good reputation, was blanked 13-0 in its football war with the Yellow Jackets on the Kingston Fair Grounds gridiron Sunday afternoon. The day was an ideal one, especially for fans, and a goodly number took advantage of the sunny day to see the all-home Kingston eleven plow through the soldiers for two touchdowns in the opening quarter.

It was a costly mistake for the Service Club to send second string men against the Yellow Jackets at the outset of the season for the Kingston linemen made wide breaks in the West Point line and the local backfielders shot through the openings like creatures possessed. Stan Colvin, Jole Hoffman, Johnny Cirone and Winters surely displayed the capability of Kingston men to lug the leather for substantial gains.

The playing of the Kingston line-men was very good Sunday. Howard, who played center for Jimmy Cassidy, Yellow Jacket regular, who is on the injured list, showed up well. His passing although a slightly bit crude at times proved satisfactory to the backfield and he got through for some nice tackles into the bargain. Winkler, Terwilliger and Kennedy commanded no small amount of attention in their work and Jimmy Maroon and Ernie Smith, substitute ends, showed that they were plucky kids during the time they played instead of Rice and Scheffel.

Joe McGrath of the Service Club showed Kingston fans that he had not lost any of his football ability since his visit here last season. This soldier bucked his way through the Yellow Jacket line for considerable gains, after entering the contest when it was too late for him to have a hand in trying to stay the local's tries for their two touchdowns. Kogut, who entered the game with McGrath, also proved a terror to the Yellow Jackets, but his labors like his partner's were not enough to put the Service men on the same scoring plane as the Yellow Jackets.

Coach Carl Preston was a happy man on the sidelines Sunday. He eagerly watched his Kingston warriors tear off neat gains and stay the West Pointers in their furious attacks. George Brooks and Ray Craft, booking managers of the Yellow Jackets, were also kept on edge throughout the game for they knew that their men were facing some of the best talent that performed on the Kingston Fair Grounds battle ground this season.

Determined to win, both teams fought like tigers with the local boys the more ferocious. Against their very heavy opponents Kingston's representatives showed their courage. John Cirone, with a bad cut over his eye, had to be pulled off the field and Vince Rice played with a wrenched knee until he couldn't navigate. It was this spirit that won the game.

First Quarter. The soldiers kicked off. A service man beat the piskin to the Yellow Jackets' 40 yard line and got possession of it for the West Pointers. The soldiers went into a huddle and decided on a line plunge to start a march for the goal. The Yellow Jacket line held like a stone wall, however, and the warriors were unable to advance the oval an inch. On the play following the West Point backfield proved unsuccessful in attempting to get around an end and the Jackets forced the ball carrier to lose about 12 yards. The next maneuver was a punt. Johnny Cirone of the Yellow Jackets got his lunch hooks on the leather at the 45 yard line and raced to the 40 yard strip before a soldier halted him. Stan Colvin took the ball on two successive plays for a few yards gain, then Shults dropped back to punt. Here the Yellow Jackets had a streak of good luck. The kick registered at about the 43 yard line and landed on Kingston's 35 yard line, where the soldiers bunched in a clumsy manner, dropped the sphere, which was recovered by Jole Hoffman. The next play was a pretty 15 yard run by Hoffman, who brought the piskin to Kingston's 20 yard line for the first down of the game. A penalty inflicted by Referee Olson on the West Pointers and a line plunge brought the ball to the vicinity of the 10 yard strip. Winters, the Yellow Jacket quarterback, then received the ball and ran about six yards for the first touchdown of the day. Kingston failed to make the extra points.

The gaining of the touchdown put plenty of pep in the Yellow Jackets, and for the remainder of the quarter the Kingston boys put up a fine battle, not mentioning the efforts registered by the West Pointers, stay the onrushing Yellow Jackets. The soldiers again kicked off and the ball dropped into the hands of Cirone, as did the first kickoff, and Johnny made a neat gain of about 20 yards before he was stopped. Two line plunges by Jole Hoffman and Stan Colvin, respectively, put the ball on the 50 yard strip and Winters lugged the ball to his 45 yard line for Kingston's third first down of the quarter. The next play was a forward pass. Winters tossed the leather about 20 yards and Harry Scheffel after a neat try got the ball and ran about 15 yards for the Yellow Jackets' second and last touchdown of the day. Cirone kicked the ball over the bar for the after touchdown point, which made the tally, Yellow Jackets, 13; West Point Service Club, 0. The score remained at these figures for the rest of the game.

Second Quarter. The first quarter ended with the ball on Kingston's 42 yard line in possession of the Service Club. After an attempted line plunge and a penalty, the soldiers punted. Jole Hoffman got the ball and made a substantial gain. He took the oval on the next play and tore off about fifteen yards. At this point in the grid war, Harry Scheffel and Vince Rice surrendered the end positions to Ernie Smith and Jimmy Maroon and rolled up in their wraps for a much deserved rest on the sidelines. The Yellow Jackets were unsuccessful in making desired gains just then and Shults punted to the soldiers. They retaliated and the ball went back to the Yellow Jackets on the mid field marker. Several line plays were pulled until the Jackets got ready to punt again. The Service Club got the ball on their 23 yard line and came within short distance of reaching the 30 line. It was at this point in the game Joe McGrath, one of the best football players at West Point, who had entered the fray earlier in the second quarter, showed that he had the goods by punting about 50 yards. He later made a 17 yard run for his second outstanding play of the session, previous to its close with the score the same as at the end of the opening quarter.

Third Quarter. The third quarter, during which neither team came within 30 yards of its goal, was a war in the middle of the gridiron. It was made up of punts aplenty. The outstanding features of the session was Soldier McGrath's kickoff. He sent the ball from his 40 yard line down to Kingston's three yard line, where Stanley Colvin snatched it from the air and made the second noteworthy play of the quarter by running the leather down to the Yellow Jackets' 42 yard line.

It was during the third quarter that Johnny Cirone had to leave the game owing to a cut he received above his left eye. This sturdy mainstay of the Yellow Jacket backfield got a rousing cheer as he walked off the field, only after much persuasion of course, for Cirone is a man with plenty of grit.

Fourth Quarter. The ball remained in Yellow Jacket territory for the entire fourth quarter McGrath and Kogut put up a stiff battle for the soldiers during the period, but the ball was kept between the 20 and 40 yard line for most of the session.

Mid-West Champs Come to West Point

Captain "Biff" Jones teaches the Army team HOW to do it, and "Spike" Nave, the cadets' peppy quarterback, tells his team WHAT to do and WHEN to do it. Blue Howell, co-captain of the Cornhuskers of the University of Nebraska, is a 200 pounder and one of the greatest fullbacks in the Missouri Valley.

Headed by Vice-President Dawes, Nebraska's most distinguished alumnus, a rooting delegation of approximately 4,000 Cornhusker backers will accompany the University of Nebraska football team when it comes to West Point November 21, to play Army. Nebraska is so far undefeated, having played Iowa State, Monmouth, the Southern Methodist game, which ended 13 to 12 for the Army on October 6.

Nebraska will come clad in scarlet jerseys and imbued with a great fighting spirit to keep its record unbroken. The Nebraskaans are famous this year for their "Powerhouse" backfield. The Cornhusker "Powerhouse" combines speed and power—speed furnished by Clair Sloan, triple threat who sometimes sprints his way to touchdowns from kickoff, and the punch to be provided by Blue Howell, one of the greatest smashing fullbacks in collegiate football realms. Russell, the 205-pound quarterback, is also an effective line of the team, sharing leadership with Elmer Holm, a guard. The Nebraska Cornhuskers carry a definite threat into the Army trenches and a more spectacular game will be hard to find.

Meanwhile the Army is polishing its side-arms for the fray. Defensive machinery will be well oiled. Sprague, Hammack, Hall, Perry and Dobb are getting severe tests in the defensive type of play. Meanwhile the backfield is working out a set of tactics designed to squelch an aerial game should that be tried, and fireworks itself.

K. H. S. Blanked By Newburgh Eleven, 12 to 0

The Kingston High School varsity squad received its worst beating of the season from Newburgh, Saturday at the Hill City 12-0. The Newburgh eleven blocked one of Kingston's kicks in the early part of the first quarter which resulted in a touchdown and they scored again in the second quarter when McLane took the ball off tackle from the fifteen yard line for a touchdown.

The Kingston squad couldn't get started in the first half for Newburgh tore off big gains through the local's line but in the second half Newburgh found an altogether different team to buck up against. The Kingston squad fought like tigers and the line turned from crumbling cement into a stone wall and on the offense there was improvement for Lynch and Meagher selected the best things from their bag of tricks and Kingston nearly scored in the last quarter. Watts, who was passing the ball and Shields who was catching the passes, brought the ball from their own twenty yard line to their opponents' nine yard line, but Kingston couldn't take the ball over. A pass from Watts was knocked down in the end zone by Nolan, giving Newburgh the ball on their 20 yard strip.

Newburgh Scores. Kingston received the ball on the kick off and Jones nabbed the piskin on the fifteen yard line and brought the ball back to the 35 yard line where he was brought down. Kingston then tried all their trick plays that they have in their collection but none would seem to work so on the fourth down Watts punted. The oval landed in the arms of Shorter who was picked off before he went very far.

One feature in Newburgh's playing was, just as soon as they got the ball in their possession they would punt it. It was the result of one of these long punts made by Earley that Kingston had the ball on their own twenty yard line.

Meagher called for a punt and Watts dropped back to kick, but before he could get the ball off his toe, Coffey and Westcott blocked the kick and Blake, Newburgh's center, picked up the piskin and ran for a touchdown.

Up to this time the Kingston squad showed no signs of life, but after the first touchdown they began to play their usual brand of football, but it was too late for this touchdown was sufficient to win the game.

Newburgh Scores Again. In the second quarter the ball remained in the middle of the field except for the time that the Hill City team ran it down the gridiron for a touchdown.

The two teams made punt after punt when Earley booted the piskin to Kingston's ten yard line and Lynch who was sent in for Meagher called down in the end zone. The ball was for a punt. Watts booted the ball, line and it was 'now in Newburgh's possession. The Hill City team tried a play when the whistle blew for the end of the game.

Roamers Win At Catskill

The Roamer basketball team traveled to Catskill Saturday night and defeated the Red Arrows, a team representing the Y. M. C. A. of that place by the score of 41-35. The Roamers and Red Arrows played before a crowd of about 500 people preceding the big game between the Howitzer five of Catskill and the Hudson team. The Roamer-Arrow tilt was a hard-fought contest throughout, neither team leading by more than five points at any time. The Arrows were leading at the end of the third period 32-28, but in the fourth period the Roamers opened up with Cahill getting the jump and Boyce and Raichie dropping in some neat sinkers. Smith and Blittner played wonderful floor games holding O'Reilly and Galt of the Arrows to 6 and 4 points respectively. Hyatt, Culham and Robins also played a nice game while they were in the game, while Lampman and Traver kept the Arrows up in front.

Chandlers and Schenectady to Y's Men Capture Thrilling Games

The Chandlers and the Y's Men played in two of the most thrilling games Saturday that have been played this season at the Y. M. C. A. court. The Chandlers beat the Redemmers by a score of 55 to 29. The "Y" representatives had a hard time getting started but when they found themselves the Redemmers couldn't hold them. In the preliminary the Y's Men took it easy with the Hupmobiles throughout the first half, but in the closing periods they shot baskets from all angles with free abandon. The final score was 54 to 24.

When the Chandlers and Redemmers opened up it looked as if the Chandlers weren't going to have much of a show for Dittus made field goal after field goal and Fox also did his part sinking many a long one.

It was quite some time before the Chandlers really found themselves. The Redemmers had rolled up a ten point lead before Merritt found the hoop for two points but his two markers were blotted out when Dittus again scored from the center of the court.

Kennedy was taken out of center and Krum was sent in to play the pivot position. It was following this change that the Chandlers started for Merritt made both fields and fouls good and the rest of his teammates followed suit. When the quarter ended the Redemmers held the lead by but three points, 16-13.

The second quarter began with making a two pointer and Kennedy followed with a shot from scrimmage. The Redemmers had now lost 17-16, but the Redemmers were determined to give the Chandlers a good fight for Fox sunk one from the center of the court which made things look close again.

For a while it looked as though the Redemmers were going to take the lead once more for they took shot after shot many of which were close. While the Redemmers were missing them Niles and Merritt were rolling up the points for when the half ended the score was 26-18, with the Chandlers holding the lead.

Chandlers Rally. From the beginning of the second half the Chandlers' snappy floor work was what counted for Niles, Merritt and Kennedy made many shots from scrimmage. When the third quarter was called the score was 40 to 23 with the Chandlers well in the lead. In the last quarter the Chandlers shifted all around. Niles was taken out of the game entirely. "Pop" Hinds being satisfied with his work for the game and Dullin took his place while Bliss shifted into Dullin's position. This was also a good combination for the Chandlers didn't stop scoring nor did they allow their opponents to score in the last quarter. The Redemmers only made six points while the "Y" representatives collected fifteen. When the final whistle blew the score was 55 to 29.

Y's Men Win. Throughout the first half the Y's Men and the Hupmobiles shifted off taking the lead. The score was five all when Kias made two fouls for the Y's Men which broke the tie.

Following this Hendricks also made a field goal and Stumpf found the hoop for a two-pointer and the score now stood 10 to 7, with the Y's Men in the lead.

Flemming snuck a field and Corregan did likewise for the Hups. Stumpf also scored from scrimmage and Molyneux made a shot from the foul line which again tied the score, but Kias did his usual scoring at the critical moment and made a shot from the side of the court. "Pop" Hinds to help things along made a field goal and from then on the Y's Men held the lead.

In the second quarter the Y's Men scored rapidly and the Hups soon realized that they wouldn't be able to overcome the lead for at the half the score was 27 to 19 in favor of the Y's Men.

It was in the second half that "Pop" Hinds, McDowell and Kias gathered their points shooting from all angles of the court. When the game ended the score stood 54 to 24 with the Y's Men in front.

Starr Training Hard for Bout

Joe Starr, one of the mittmen at West Point, who is under the management of Sergeant James M. McCabe and Eugene Conway, local men who have a gym in the armory and book scraps for National Guard fighters, is training hard for his coming tilt with Charlie Handford of the 36th Infantry, Friday night.

The tilt is scheduled for six rounds but according to Starr's handlers, Charlie Handford will be stopped, and with a sudden decisiveness—the early stages of the battle was Starr from all accounts is a hard worker, who fights with the idea that the early bird catches the worm, and will try to scalp Handford before the husky colored chap gets warmed up.

Captain E. C. Lawson, who has Vince Coffey matched with George Deschner of the New Jersey Coast Artillery for the feature six rounds to be staged at the armory on November 23, advises all fans, who desire choice seats, to make arrangements as soon as possible for the reserved section pasteboards are going like hot cakes.

Poultry Clubs Meet This Week

Arrangements have been made for meetings of the Kingston and Wallkill Valley poultry clubs. The former will meet at the court house in Kingston, Tuesday evening, November 20, at 7:30, the latter at the Orange Hall in New Paltz, Wednesday afternoon, November 21, at 1:30 o'clock.

These meetings are primarily for members of the better management clubs, but all poultrymen are cordially invited. They are rather small gatherings which enable intimate discussion with the specialist. Many phases of poultry keeping are discussed, and an attempt made to find out why some flocks are making more money than others for the owners.

Sparton Radio Dealers Meet in Kingston

On left H. B. Bartell, service engineer, and on right, S. L. Goodsell, District Sales Manager, executives of Sparks-Withington Co.

A special meeting was held this morning and this afternoon at the Governor Clinton Hotel for all Sparton radio dealers in this vicinity for the purpose of teaching merchandising and service of the new Sparton sets. The meeting was conducted by executives of the Sparks-Withington Co., who traveled here by auto and carried with them all necessary equipment. Meetings will be continued Tuesday here and will be followed by similar meetings in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Middletown, all within the territory of W. Davis Hawk, of this city, the wholesale Sparton distributor. G. L. Goodsell, district sales manager, gave a lecture on the theory and operation of the new "Equisonne" receiver. The talk was followed by an address by H. B. Bartell, service engineer. The meeting was one of a series which is being conducted in all large distributing centers throughout the country. The new "Equisonne" receiver opens up for satisfactory reception the lower wave bands, which under the older method of reception have been practically useless. The "Equisonne" circuit is said to be the only present circuit easily adapted to television reception in future development. The "Equisonne" tunes square across a definite waveband of broadcast instead of to a peak in the center of the band. This type of reception was invented and perfected by Dr. Lester Jones of New York, Prof. S. Glasfow of Washington University, Theodore Scofield and Steuart Seely, of Sparks-Withington Co., development department.

FEDERAL BUREAU AIDS MOTORISTS

More Efficient Fuels and Less Expensive Engines Being Studied.

Motorists throughout the entire world are daily beneficiaries of the marvelous automotive laboratories of Uncle Sam's great bureau of standards at Washington, according to Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, who has just received a recent digest of the bureau's activities in behalf of motordom through national headquarters of the American Automobile association.

"Take fuels, for example," points out Mr. Hayes. "Here is a field of research of tremendous importance to every user of an automobile. Through years of experimentation, the bureau's scientists have built up a body of knowledge which has proved of inestimable value to the petroleum industry, and, consequently to the motorist. More efficient fuels, and more economical engines, are just single instances of the great constructive work constantly being pushed forward at the bureau."

Examining into the details of the bureau's accomplishments during the last few years, Mr. Hayes declares "this governmental agency has made monumental contributions to the cause of safer motoring."

Most Exhaustive Tests.
"It has done this," he points out, "by conducting tests which have proved best methods in braking, of brake materials, and of general construction." These tests, he shows, have been of a most exhaustive character. "Nothing," he declares, "has been allowed to stand in the way of their successful completion."

"In every direction, and in every conceivable phase of motor engineering, the bureau has interested itself to bring about improvement. Naturally, in this work the bureau has had the fullest co-operation of the automotive industry itself and of organized motordom as represented in the American Automobile association, of which we are proud to be a part."

"For that reason, the bureau has meant increasingly much to all those who own or drive motor cars."

Grade Crossing Warning Issued by Detroit Club

"Owing to the increase of the number of automobiles in use, the hazard from grade crossings is annually becoming greater," says C. B. Van Dusen, president of the Detroit Automobile club.

"In 1926 there were 5,921 highway grade-crossing accidents in which 3,402 persons were killed and 1,300 injured by driving into the sides of trains at grade crossings."

"Only through the co-operation of the public and the railroads," says Mr. Van Dusen, "can a reduction in such accidents be brought about. In view of the fact that the complete elimination of highway grade crossings is almost impossible."

He urges all motorists to make sure that the way is clear before driving onto a railroad track.

Hunter Missed His Beck.
While working on his farm at Wittenburg recently, Stephen Angewine found an eight-point buck lying dead with a bullet wound in its neck.

The deer, which evidently tried to leap a fence on the farm, was caught by wire. It probably had been shot in the nearby woodlands and was making its escape when weakness from loss of blood caused its death.

Ten Different Kinds of Trouble in Weak Spark

A weak spark or defective coil is the cause of at least ten different kinds of trouble: (1) fouling of spark plugs; (2) lazy engines; (3) slow getaway; (4) loss of power; (5) accumulation of carbon in cylinders and valves; (6) slow combustion, resulting in loss of mileage and overheating of engine; (7) hard-starting engines; (8) burning of valves and warping of valve-stems; (9) engine missing on hard pulls, and cutting out at high speeds; (10) incomplete combustion, the gas getting into the crank case and diluting the oil, with excessive wear and depreciation of pistons, cylinder walls and bearings.

Study Danger of Gas

For the purpose of furnishing the public with authentic information concerning the subject of automobile exhaust gases and the danger or lack of danger resulting from the pollution of the atmosphere with such gases, a joint committee has been formed to encourage research and investigation toward the reduction of the amount of carbon monoxide formed in automobile operation and to attempt to eliminate this entirely if possible.

Two Were One

It happened recently on a Fifth avenue bus. Occupying the preferred position next to the windows on three separate seats were a mother and two children. The conductor appeared and presented the coin box to the mother. She put in two dimes.

The conductor said nothing, but he looked hurt and waited. That didn't produce any effect, so he remarked to the mother, who was young and good looking, "But there are three of you."

"Oh," replied the mother, smiling sweetly, "but those two children are twins."

There was nothing more to be said. —New York Sun.
